CROYDON CHILDREN GUESTS AT PARTY OF BUSINESS MEN

Kiddies Assemble As Well As Grown-Ups At Skating Rink

ANNOUNCE PRIZES

Awards Made in House and Business Places Decoration Contest

CROYDON, Dec. 22 — Christmas activities of Croydon Business and Professional Men reached their climax last evening when winners in the house and business decorating contest were made public, and a party for children of Croydon area was conducted.

There were many happy people in the community—those who won prizes, those who received honorable mention for their decorations, those who enjoyed viewing them, and the kiddies who gathered from a wide area to welcome Santa Claus and to make merry.

The business and professional men "did themselves proud" in both affairs. Seven hundred and fifty kiddies, and 100 grown-ups assembled at seven o'clock in the Croydon skating rink. They sang carols, being led by Charles Schuon and Mrs. Thomas Doron, the latter of Bristol; they witnessed a Punch and Judy show, and listened to numbers by Croydon String Band. There was a vocal solo, "O Holy Night," by Mrs. Doron, with Miss Ann Hedrick at the organ; Thomas Doron extended greetings from Dr. A. Gonzalez who was unable to be present during early part of the festivities; then Mr. Doron gave impersonations and sang. Throughout the evening Miss Hedrick was busy at the organ, providing music.

When Santa Claus arrived among shouts of glee from the children, he spoke briefly; and when the girls and boys were ready to leave they lined up to receive a candy cane and box of candy each from Santa.

Serving on the committee were George Lukens, Mrs. John Heister, and Henry Blask. Present, among others, were representatives of Bucks County Rescue Squad, Bristol Twp. Fire Police, Bristol Twp. Chief of Police Joseph Seader; Mrs. Alice Horn and her committee of Scout mothers who had packed the boxes of candy; Croydon Athletic Club members who erected and trimmed the community tree. In fact, the committee members state, that there was an unusually fine cooperative spirit shown throughout.

3 MORE INSPECTORS SEEK WATER POLLUTION

State Sanitary Water Board Assign More Men Here For Work

SOURCE MAY BE HERE

By International News Service HARRISBURG, Dec. 22 — The State Sanitary Water Board yesterday sent three additional inspectors to help track down the source of "extremely bad taste" in the Delaware River drinking water supply of approximately 1,500,000 Philadelphians.

Health Secretary Norris W. Vaux received an official request from the Philadelphia Director of Public Works Monday asking for cooperation in tracing the source of pollution, believed to be caused by by-products of a chemical or industrial plant.

The foul taste in drinking water may be caused by a combination of phenol, run off from a plant, and chlorine, a water purifier, a Board spokesman said. The combination results in highly unpalatable water, he added.

The spokesman explained that the agency already has five men working "day and night" with Philadelphia engineers between the Torresdale intake station and Bristol and Trenton.

Philadelphia water will remain distasteful until the city installs equipment and processes for the removal of its well-known chlorine taste.

Philip Sadler, local chemical engineer and member of a chemical consulting firm made this prediction yesterday. He also warned that adding chlorine to water containing phenol would "accentuate the unpleasant taste."

Inspectors of the State Sanitary Water Board have found that an industrial firm or firms have been contaminating the Delaware River by dumping phenol waste into it.

Seven Buildings, Most of Them Connected, and Covering Half-Acre Area, Burns at plant of Hyzer & Lewellen — Cause of the Blaze, Apparently Starting in Kiln House, is Undetermined — Workman Discovering Fire Arouses One Watchman and Carries Other to The Office of a Doctor.

SOUTHAMPTON, Dec. 22 — A fire alarm at 11 o'clock last night sent firemen from nearly a dozen communities in Bucks and Montgomery counties racing over snow- and ice-covered highways in an attempt to control a fire which did damage estimated at $100,000; rescue a watchman at an industrial plant and send him to a hospital; and aid in transferring to a safe place the records from the offices of Hyzer & Lewellen Refractories, here.

The blaze at the Hyzer & Lewellen plant, said to have started apparently in a kiln-house, did damage to seven buildings as the flames leaped into the sky and were visible 10 miles away.

The watchman rescued was Harry Dickinson, 60, who failed to react when a kiln-house tender, George Howes, 38, Richboro, attempted to arouse him. Howes carried Dickinson, unconscious, from the plant and to the home of a physician 200 feet away. After treatment there, Dickinson was taken to Abington Hospital in the ambulance of Bucks County Rescue Squad, Croydon. He was admitted as a victim of smoke inhalation.

The blaze caused loss of the office, a barn, four brick kilns, and other structures, all connected, and covering about one-half acre of space, it is stated. The firm makes firebrick and casting crucible, and is located on Second Street Pike. Hundreds of spectators were attracted, in spite of hazardous travel on snow-covered roads.

When the kiln-house tender, George Howes, scented smoke, he ran to the company's office building, a converted Swiss-type barn with frame walls and a metal roof, and telephoned an alarm. Then he went to another building where two watchmen were quartered.

He awakened G. Leon Langshaw, 70, but when they tried to react, Dickinson, he failed to react. Howes carried Dickinson to the physician's office.

Fire Chief Horace Beans, of Southampton, reaching the fire to find it spreading uncontrollably, called for reinforcements. His call brought firemen from Richboro, Feasterville, Bethayren, Bryn Athyn, Trevose, Trevose Heights, Huntingdon Valley, Hatboro, Willow Grove, Ivyland and Hornham.

Two of the seven buildings were of the Quonset type, one larger than the other. The other structures were wooden. Flames raced through all but a storage shed and one portion of the barnlike administration building.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

We have a few days left to send Christmas cards to those who sent us Christmas cards thinking we would send them Christmas cards.

This is the same predicament as the man who never could make his coffee and toast come out even... always he was half a slice ahead or a half cup behind.

And it is advisable also to chart a direct course now from the back door to some store that will be open Christmas Day.

The news from Indonesia indicates that they have received nothing they wanted for Christmas and the present visitors bear little resemblance to the Netherlands jolly St. Nicholas.

Our State Department which just expected to send out a few cards for Christmas now has to write a note or two.

TO SAVE THE CHILDREN

Tuberculosis is a peculiar and afflicting disease. In some cases it is self-healing while in others it ushes to a fatal conclusion in pite of the best care and treatment science can provide. An official of the United Nations Health Organization, who certainly is in a position to know, estimates that this killer takes 1,000,000 lives annually.

As most health authorities predicted, the incidence of TB has kyrocketed in Europe during the last five years. One of the most ragic aspects is the fact that the very young are hit in greatest proportion. Conditions are ripe for t.

UN medical units returning rom Germany, Poland and Greece have reported the alarming extent to which malnutrition and inadequate clothing and shelter are contributing to the spread of the disease among infants.

The UN Health Organization has set in motion what it calls the "largest single mass immunization program for combating TB ever undertaken." Chief beneficiaries will be Europe's children, and more than 100,000 of them will be tested and, where possible, reated during the next year.

The UN's International Children's Emergency Fund Committee will be working closely with he medical teams, since in most reas complete rehabilitation, including raising the nutritional tandards and way of living, is a necessary adjunct to control of he disease.

This project to help save a generation of the world's child popuation in Europe and elsewhere, eserves all the encouragement nd material help that can be iven.

WHAT'S QUOTABLE?

In 1854, when John Bartlett et about the monumental task of restling from the history of terature phrases and quotations hat have become household ords, he had working at his side he advantage of perspective.
his, as any historian will con-
rm, is half the battle.

So the Boston publisher's Familiar Quotations," down rough the years, and edition fter edition, has made sprightly eading as well as good reference.

John Bartlett died in 1905, but thers have carried on for him.
he twelfth edition of "Familiar quotations" is now available. It as a "forced draft" job, as the ditors admit. They had thought at the 1937 edition would capure and hold timeless the oughts of an era. But they ckoned without the impact of World War II on our life and mes.

It is easy to grasp at once the ifficulties the editors have labor-1 under. Even by means of the ort yardstick offered by 10 ears, some of the quotes are rowing thin.

Nevertheless, the new edition ill serve to refresh our minds ith the phrases and catchwords at are becoming the warp and oof of the language. Some will ot prove as deathless as the pre-nt would seem to dictate.

Dr. J. F. Daniel Dies Suddenly In Turkey

KELLERS CHURCH, Dec. 22—Relatives and friends here have received word of the death of Dr. John Franklin Daniel, 38, in Turkey. Death of Dr. Daniel occurred on Friday.

Dr. Daniel's widow, Ellen Alix duPont Daniel, resides here. The deceased was the archaeologist and curator of the Mediterranean section of the University Museum, Philadelphia. His wife was informed his death was due to a heart attack.

Dr. Daniel, also professor of practical archaeology at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, and editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Archaeology, was on a reconnaissance trip for the University to select sites for further archaeological excavations.

He left Philadelphia on September 10, and finished an excavation project at Cyprus, where he spent much time during the last war. He was searching for new fields in Turkey at the time of his death.

Dr. Daniel was credited with deciphering four words of Cypriot-Minoan script, the oldest known inscription in the Greek language and considered to be the first writings of one of the oldest writings on earth.

He conducted excavations for the University Museum in Cyprus from 1934 until 1939 and also made excavations at Tarsus in Turkey. Returning to this country shortly before the war, Dr. Daniel entered the Army in 1942, and became one of the original members of the Greek section of the Office of Strategic Services.

In addition to his widow, Dr. Daniel is survived by his mother, a brother and two sisters, all living in California.

Following his wish to be buried wherever he died, his widow said burial will be at Antalya, Turkey.

$100,000 Fire Sends The Firemen of 10 Communities Racing on Snowy Highways

John W. Lewellen, Jr., of Montgomery county, present head of the 104-year-old concern, was notified of the blaze and drove over 22 miles of country roads to get there.

With his wife, and 21-year-old daughter, Anne, he directed firemen in saving records and a safe from the main building. It was Lewellen who estimated the destruction at "upwards of $100,000."

Firemen drew water from a hydrant outside the two-acre plant and from a nearby stream, but were forced to shuttle additional water supplies in tanks from the Pennsylvania Frozen Food Co., three quarters of a mile northwest.

The plant employs 20 persons, but only Howes, Dickinson and Langshaw were there when it burned. The cause was not determined.

United Societies, St. Ann's, Enjoy Christmas Party

In spite of the inclement weather Sunday, 120 members of the United Societies of St. Ann's Parish gathered in the church basement for the annual Christmas party.

The affair also honored the Rev. Bernard Harding, O.S.S.T., acting pastor of St. Ann's.

A candle-light repast was served consisting of roast beef platters, pie, potato chips, olives, pickles, cookies, candy, peanuts, coffee and soft drinks. Favors and decorations were in keeping with the holiday season.

During the course of the evening, Santa Claus made his appearance before a large lighted Christmas tree, and distributed "Polynanna" gifts to everyone.

Mrs. Frank DeRisi, Mrs. Ralph

D'Angelo, and Mrs. Lewis Constantini led in group singing of Christmas carols. Dancing was also indulged in, Anthony Juno, accordionist, providing music for the occasion.

Prizes received were: for the "Broom Dance," Miss Anna Amadio; for the oldest member present, Mrs. Clementina DiNunzio; for the youngest member present, Miss Theresa Valenti.

On behalf of the societies, Santa Claus presented a purse to Fr. Bernard Harding, and also to Very Rev. Michael Nardone, O.S.S.T., Provincial, Rome, Italy, now assisting at St. Ann's during the absence of the Rev. Peter A. Pini.

The committee who helped make this a decided successful affair was in charge of Mrs. Lewis D'Onofrio, chairlady, ably assisted by Mrs. Patrick Field, Mrs. Charles Spezzano, Mrs. Felicia Field, Mrs. Michael Comenzo, Mrs. Jennie Kale, Mrs. Frank DeRisi, Mrs. Ralph D'Angelo, Mrs. Rocco Manzo, the Misses Fannie Spadacino, Lillian Lattanzi, Eleanor and Margaret Perrone, Tina Ferrara, Jovina Narcisi, Eleanor DeRisi, Rose Meslinelli.

Cadet Corps Enjoys Jolly Xmas Party

tures by representatives of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Howard Tomlinson, post commander, in reply to Mr. Brodie who acted as toastmaster, assured the corps commander, that the corps and he had the united backing of the post 100 per cent. "You are doing a swell job, and I hope you will carry on," said Tomlinson.

James McCloskey, Philadelphia, one of the guests responded very briefly, extending the greetings of the season.

The main speaker of the evening was Charles G. Rathke, president of Bristol borough council. Mr. Rathke told the boys that he was glad to see them reviving the corps. He said "There are two things essential for the success of the group. You must have clean bodies and clean minds," said the speaker. "Oh yes you can clean your bodies with soap and water but to keep your minds clean is entirely another matter, and it is up to you."

He urged the group not to hate anybody. He said "You can't switch hate on and off like an electric light. If you want to cook your own goose you can do so by permitting your tempers to boil over."

Then the speaker suggested ten rules for breaking up the cadet corps or any other organization:

Don't attend the meetings or practice; be long on excuses for not being present and find fault with what the others do; decline all offices, get sore, don't do any work, don't make suggestions, do as little as possible for the organization, delay paying your dues and don't get any new members for the organization.

There was an exchange of gifts.

It was announced that all boys ranging in age from 12 to 16 desiring to join the cadets are invited to attend the meeting to be held January 4th.

Mr. Brodie expressed his appreciation to Felix Tomlinson, the chef; Fred Stewart, chairman; Raymond Tomlinson, Clarence Schweizer and Robert McDonald. He also thanked the two who have been acting as chaperones during the past year, Mrs. Doris Hildebrandt and Miss Annie Sabatini. Mrs. Howard Smoyer, Jr., president of the auxiliary, who served the dinner, was complimented as well as the assisting group.

At 10 o'clock there was adjournment, and the youngsters wended their way homeward, bubbling over with good things to eat and with gifts. It had been a big night.

HE'LL LOVE YOU more than ever if he finds a really nice, fully lined lounge robe under the tree on Christmas morning! And here's your chance to buy such a robe at less than half the regular price—$9.95 instead of $19.95. The robes are famous "Robbers", with those exclusive "Fit-Rite" collars. Also, they have "Toggle-Tab" belts that can't slip off. He'll approve the shawl collars, the roomy pockets. Which rich shade do you think he'll like—wine or navy? Values there are always exciting, and especially so at Christmas and Easter.

REDUCED TOYS! You'll find many toys reduced in Snellenburgs "Toy Town"—dolls, construction sets, games, mechanical toys, and others too numerous to list. Do take advantage of this clearance. And wouldn't it be nice if what you're purchasing your own child's toys you would invest in a toy or two to make a less fortunate child happy? But maybe you're away ahead of me. The "Budgeteers" I know are very thoughtful people. I'd love to hear about such gifts! (4th fl.)

MAN OR WOMAN or older children will thrill at the gift of a pair of binoculars, such as the inexpensive "Magnifying" that carries a lifetime guarantee. These three and a half power glasses are tops for taking along when hiking, attending the theatre, or viewing sports close-ups. MEN LIKE the "Segal" assortment of chocolate-coated nuts and fruits, a Christmas feature in the Chestnut St. and Market St. Candy Depts. of Snellenburgs. ## Children's Book Published By Upper Black Eddy Woman

UPPER BLACK EDDY, Dec. 22.—The Bucks County has added to the ranks of the publishers—Caroline Haring, local homemaker, by virtue of the publication of her children's book "Diddle Wink."

Mrs. Haring, who has resided in Bucks county all her life with the exception of several years when she lived in Philadelphia, worked on the book more than a half-year.

With Mrs. Haring's debut as a writer, the Upper end of the county, which already boasts a husband-and-wife writing team, George and Helen Papasivsky, of the Springfield township section; Jack Kirk, of Springtown; S. J. Perelman, of Vinona; James A. Michener, of Tintin; John Wexley, of Otterville; Pearl Buck, of Dublin; Frederick C. Davis, of Bensenville, RD., will soon rival the "middle or genius belt" and "Valley of writers, actors and artists."

Almighty God, who hearest the prayers of Thy servants for one another, grant Thy blessing at this holy season to all missionaries at home and abroad. May the true joy of Christmas enter into their hearts to sustain, strengthen and cheer them. And grant that as they make known the wonderful message of the Christ Child, their labors may be fruitful for Thy Kingdom, which we pray may be hastened here on earth. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. # BRISTOL HIGH IN FINE GAME DEFEATS UPPER MERION

Scoring 16 points in the final quarter, Bristol High played brilliantly to upset the Upper Merion quintet last night before a huge crowd on the local court. Final tabulations were: Bristol, 45; Upper Merion, 36.

Until the last session it was a close ball game. The localites had a 29-28 lead going into the finale, Upper Merion having shaved its early lead to one point. Bristol led in the first quarter, 16-8, and at the half-way mark were in front, 19-15.

But accurate shooting by "Jim" Sottile settled the issue for the Warriors. Sottile's total for the night was 13 field goals and a foul for 27 points. Five of the double-deckers and the foul were made in the late surge of the proteges of Coach Jerry Bloom.

Sottile was given nice support in assists by his mates and Jim made the most of it. Konefal had 14 points for the evening while Captain "Jim" Marshall did nice work on the defense.

However, Bristol's defense failed to stop Paul McKernan, captain of Coach "Tom" Campion's team. He made nine field goals and was outstanding for the Upper Merion team.

The Warriors amassed an eight-point lead in the first eight minutes of the contest. The localites scored first but Vargo tied it at 2-2. Konefal put Bristol in the lead and Sottile made it 6-2. Sottile's overhead shot made it 8-2 but Burry made a pair of fouls and then passed to McKernan for a field goal, making the count 8-6. Sottile got two back for Bristol and followed with another double-decker. After Collins dropped in a foul, Sottile again looped a field goal and before the half was over, the Bristol scoring star hit the cords for two more points while Burry made a foul for Upper Merion to bring the score to 16-8.

Upper Merion had its own spurt in the second quarter, holding Bristol to three points, a twin-pointer by Val Bielecki and a foul by the same player. Upper Merion was led by McKernan who scored a pair of field goals. Both teams missed many shots that would roll the edge of the basket and drop on the outside.

Shortly after the third quarter started the score was deadlocked at 21-21. Gordon Collins made a foul to put Upper Merion in the lead but Bristol came back to tie it up. The lead then see-sawed until Sottile scored twice from the field to put Bristol ahead, 29-26 but before the horn sounded, Collins scored a double-decker for Upper Merion to cut the lead to 29-28.

The passing of the Bristolians and Sottile's shooting settled the issue in the fourth quarter.
